TRAINING - SALES

To ensure smooth operations and a successful launch, iMobiles will provide comprehensive sales training as part of the franchise onboarding process.

The training process is as follows:

1. Initial Training at Head Office:

The franchisee will attend a one-week training program at our Head Office to learn about the sales process, product knowledge, customer handling, and operational procedures.

2. On-Site Training During Store Launch:

At the time of the outlet opening, our Head Office team will visit the franchise location to provide hands-on, live training and assess the franchise setup. This support will continue for a couple of days to ensure a smooth start.

3. Logistics Responsibility:

All necessary food and accommodation during the training period must be arranged and covered by the franchisee.

SERVICE - MANPOWER SUPPORT

Manpower for service operations will be provided by iMobiles. However, all necessary food and accommodation arrangements for the technician must be taken care of by the franchisee.

- In the event a service technician is transferred or leaves the branch, a replacement will be provided within 7 to 15 days.
- It is the sole responsibility of the franchisee to manage and support the assigned service technician during their tenure.
- In certain cases, there may be challenges in immediate manpower availability. During such times, the brand will provide training support to a technician arranged by the franchisee.

Note: The franchisee will bear the cost of this training
